Summary

I'm a mostly self-taught front-end developer. I'm very creative and focus on building responsive, stylish and functional website designs with an efficient and clean code writing. I'm always eager to learn new skills.

Recently I added Wordpress themes creation to my set of skills.

Over the past several years I've developed websites as a freelancer for local businesses and organizations. Some of my work is in Bulgarian, but I'm proficient in English as well.

You can see details about my finished projects in my portfolio site which I've given above, but I have also listed some of their links in the projects section and given some info about each of them.
